FACULTY POSITION IN BUSINESS ETHICS

AT CATÓLICA-LISBON, PORTUGAL

Overview

Católica Lisbon School of Business and Economics invites applications for a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor position for the Business Ethics group starting in September 2026. Experienced Assistant or Associate Professors interested in applying will also be considered in the search at their appropriate level.

Applicants must have a PhD degree in a management field. The ideal candidate will present a robust research record, or show potential to produce research of the highest quality. Strong preference will be given to applicants with a demonstrated ability to deal with the normative and axiological issues of management in their research. Due to the school's distinct doctrinal ethos, successful candidates must demonstrate a personal and professional commitment to the Christian principles and to the Catholic approach to society, companies and markets.

CATÓLICA-LISBON is dedicated to developing high-quality, impactful research in connection with and application to industry to tackle business and economics problems. As such, successful candidates coming from programs outside business and economics are expected to develop research agendas that bridge to and can address managerial or economic problems.

Priority consideration will be given to applications received by May 22nd, 2026, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Screening interviews will be held online.

Position Requirements

Católica-Lisbon is a research-focused institution and tenure-track faculty are expected to maintain a research program targeted at top-tier journals in their field. Católica-Lisbon provides ample support to do so. Salary is competitive; the school provides funding for research-related activities, including travel to international conferences. Teaching requirements for tenure-track positions are reduced and scheduled with the goal of allowing ample research time. The school offers a collegial environment that encourages collaboration both among colleagues and with industry or institutional partners.

Candidates should be motivated to engage students in the classroom. Tenure-track positions involve teaching the equivalent of 3 courses per year, in English, at the undergraduate, MSc and MBA levels, and potentially in executive education programs. The teaching load may be additionally reduced in the first year.

Candidates must demonstrate the potential to publish in top-tier management journals. For Associate positions, candidates are expected to show a strong research track record in top journals, excellence in teaching, and the ability to add to the research reputation and productivity of the group.

For all positions, a strong background in data science and the ability to integrate these techniques into research and teaching will be a key consideration.

Católica Lisbon School of Business and Economics (CATÓLICA-LISBON)

CATÓLICA-LISBON is a leading European business school, committed to research production at the highest level, to excellence in developing outstanding graduates for high-level careers, and to offering business leaders a lifelong learning environment. Our programs are internationally recognized: within Europe we are a top 30 business school, our Lisbon MBA and our Master in Management are top 25. The increasingly international character of the school is reflected in our faculty, student body, and international accreditations. Since 2008, CLSBE has had the "triple crown" of international business school accreditations: AACSB, EFMD, and AMBA. Our MSc, MBA, and PhD programs are entirely taught in English, to an increasingly international student body.

Faculty and Research Environment

CATÓLICA-LISBON provides a vibrant research environment. The core research faculty consists of more than 40 tenure-track members, with doctorates from top North American (including MIT, NYU, CMU, UCLA, Columbia, Yale, Arizona, Stanford) and top European (including LBS, LSE, UCL, Tilburg, RSM Erasmus, INSEAD) programs. The faculty body comes from all over the globe. The CUBE research unit of Católica-Lisbon received the highest rating for research excellence in Portugal among all social science units, including business schools, when evaluated by an international panel. The Business Ethics group at Católica-Lisbon is composed of international faculty with a strong research focus.

Living in Lisbon

Lisbon has also been ranked as one of the top 3 cities in the world in terms of lifestyle. It is a thriving international hub with a vibrant cultural scene, diverse artistic activities and sporting events, fantastic restaurants, good public transportation, historic architecture, some of the best weather in Europe, a public healthcare system, and easy access to world-class beaches. Lisbon has recently been ranked the safest capital city in Europe.

Application Procedure

To receive full consideration, applicants must submit a cover letter, a CV, research and teaching statements, three letters of recommendation (for junior profiles), and a job market paper. Additional samples of written work are welcome but optional.
Your application should be submitted via e-mail to cube.clsbe@ucp.pt. Review of materials will begin immediately upon receipt. Priority consideration will be given to applications received by May 22nd, 2026, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.